WILMINGTON - Out of 16,000 registered voters 7679 came to the polls with just under 50% turnout for Super Tuesday. There were 4101 total votes for a Democratic nominee to 3570 voting Republican. The Green Rainbow Party garnered 0 votes while the United Independent Party got 6 votes (2 each precincts 2, 3, and 5).

Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump won the day in Massachusetts in the Presidential Primary.

Bernie Sanders got the most votes for the Democratic Party at 2209 to Hillary Clinton at 1796 votes.

On the Republican side, 2079 residents cast their vote for Donald Trump with 526 for Marco Rubio, 351 for Ted Cruz, and 463 for John Kasich.

Caira continues legacy of service to community

A dramatic Super Tuesday behind us, it's time to focus on those running for local office. With two longtime members opting out for reelection, five newcomers are vying for the now open seats on the Board of Selectmen as Selectman Michael Newhouse and Selectman and Director of Veterans Affairs Lou Cimaglia will not be seeking reelection.

Housing Authority member Gregory Bendel, and residents, Joseph Lavino, Thomas Miller, Martin Meyer and Kevin Caira are running for a seat on the Board. All but Meyer have returned papers for certification.

The Crier caught up with Caira whose father was a Selectman. Caira's brother, Mike Caira was also a Selectman and then Town Manager, retiring in 2013 after serving in that capacity for 22 years.

Caira, who works as Retirement Administrator for the Town of Amesbury, has support from his brother and beyond. "The whole family is supportive of my decision. Service to the community is kind of in our blood," said Caira.

"[Mike Caira] had a strong record of fiscal management, and I guess I'm a fiscal con-

Safe Medicine Disposal

Down the drain and in the trash not safe

By SHARON ADELMAN

WILMINGTON - Many people do not think twice about throwing their medication into the trash. The proper disposal of unused, unwanted, expired pills and other medications more than protects the environment, it prevents accidental poisoning, misuse, abuse and illicit activity.

In the United States, prescription drugs are among the most frequently abused substances, according to safemedicinedisposal.com. Often, people do not realize how many leftover narcotics they have sitting on their shelves at home. "There's a saying, 'The newest drug dealer is your medicine cabinet,'" Wilmington Police Lt. Joe Desmond told the Crier.

Prescription abuse is a rising trend among teens; studies on youth aged 12 and over show pharmaceuticals are easily obtained from friends, relatives or their home medicine cabinets. The most commonly abused medications include opioid painkillers, sedatives, sleeping pills, stimulants and over-the-counter cold medication, according to WebMD. The safe disposal of these and other medications not only helps prevent substance abuse, but keeps medication from falling into the wrong hands. In a 2011 report, The Journal of Pediatrics found "fifty-five percent of child-related calls to poison centers from emergency departments were a result of a child getting into prescription medications."

In addition, curious pets can accidentally overdose on medication within their reach - on a counter, nightstand or in a purse. The Wilmington Police Department has a medication disposal kiosk in their lobby for town residents, available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Tablets, capsules and all other solid dosage forms are accepted - both for humans and pets. Remove all personal information from the bottle before disposal or place the medication in a sealed, Ziploc bag. Intravenous solutions, injectables, and syringes will not be accepted.

There is also a disposal kiosk for needles and sharps. "Given the issues with heroin, we're finding needles on the street," said Desmond. Exposed needles present health hazards for children, joggers and animals.

According to the FDA, many needles are improperly disposed of in public trash cans or flushed down toilets, exposing sanitation workers, janitors, family members and children to viruses from needle stick injuries: Hepatitis B and C and Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV).

Programming changes coming to Wilmington High School

Courses to be Lost and Gained in Proposed Changes

By BRENDAN FOLEY
News Correspondent
BrendanMFoley@Outlook.com

WILMINGTON - At Wednesday's school committee meeting, Wilmington High School Principal Linda Peters presented proposed changes to the program of studies for the high school, meeting with approval from the school committee.

The changes will see courses both added and dropped from the current high school program.

The dropped courses include Business Communication, Theory of Understanding, Media Arts: Digital Video, Introduction to Trigonometry, Introduction to Probability and Statistics, Modeling with Mathematics, Popular Music and Music Theory.

In some cases, the dropped courses are merely reflective of changes to program orientation. For example, Introduction to Probability and Statistics are being combined into a single, year-long, course entitled Math Topics.

Media Arts: Digital Video was deemed to be similar to the Media Production course

Wilmington's K9 Ridic tracks 2nd suspect

Andover police make arrest in Tewksbury B&E Incident

ANDOVER - Police Chief Patrick Keefe reports that the Andover Police Department arrested two men on Monday in connection with a breaking and entering incident. The suspects are believed to be involved in several house breaks in neighboring communities, including Newburyport, Tewksbury, and Ayer.

As a result: BRANDON SIMMONS, AGE 28, OF SEABROOK, N.H. is charged with:

- Possession of a Class A Substance (Heroin)
- Possession of a Burglary Instrument
- Operating to Endanger
- Marked Lanes Violation

KEITH BABCOCK, AGE 33, OF SEABROOK, N.H. is charged with:

- Possession of a Class A Substance (Heroin)
- Breaking and Entering During the Daytime for a Felony

BABCOCK also has warrants out of Newburyport and Ayer District Courts for related charges.

On Monday, Feb. 29, around 2:30 p.m., an officer on patrol on Lowell Street noticed a silver Toyota Corolla, operated by a man, drive in the middle of the road in an attempt to pass vehicles in traffic.

The officer followed the car and conducted a motor vehicle cle stop on Haggetts Pond Road. The driver was identified as SIMMONS. While on the scene, another vehicle with a man and woman inside, stopped to tell the officer they had been following the silver sedan. They had just witnessed it leaving their driveway in Tewksbury after returning home to find their residence had been burglarized.

As a result of the on scene investigation, the officer arrested SIMMONS.

At the same time, police received a report of a man running through backyards in the area of Bellevue Road and Osgood Street. Police, including officers from Tewksbury, were dispatched to the area, along with the Wilmington K-9 unit.

The Wilmington K-9, named Ridic, tracked toward a shed on Bellevue Road and Osgood Street. Inside, police located a man, identified as BABCOCK, along with heroin and related paraphernalia.

"I commend the work of Andover for recognizing and responding to these two related incidents," Chief Keefe said. "Thank you to the Wilmington K-9 unit and Tewksbury officers for assisting us in locating this suspect."

BABCOCK was arrested. During booking, it was revealed that he had warrants out of Newburyport and Ayer.

"We have been actively searching for Babcock, who we can connect to at least one breaking and entering in our community, but who we believe to be involved in multiple house breaks in our city," Newburyport City Marshal Mark Murray said. "We thank Andover Police and all those involved for apprehending this suspect so these crimes will not continue to occur in other communities."

Andover police are currently working with six area police departments who believe BABCOCK and SIMMONS may be connected to incidents in their cities and towns.

Both suspects were held at the Andover Police Department pending their arraignment at Lawrence District Court.

These are allegations. All suspects are considered innocent until proven guilty.

Walter Shelley, convicted of 1969 slaying, has verdict reduced

LOWELL - A Tewksbury man convicted in 2014 of first-degree murder for the 1969 slaying of a 15-year-old boy has had the verdict reduced to the lesser charge of second-degree murder.

Walter Shelley, who is now 64, was convicted of killing John McCabe of Tewksbury. Prosecutors say Shelley, then 17, was one of three youths who kidnapped, beat and bound McCabe, leaving him to die of asphyxiation. Authorities say McCabe was targeted because he had flirted with Shelley's girlfriend.

The Lowell Sun reported that a judge reduced the verdict last month because "the heft of the evidence falls more squarely on second-degree murder."

Shelley was already eligible for parole in 15 years because of a U.S. Supreme Court decision.

McCabe's sister says she and other family members will oppose any Shelley request for parole.

As previously reported in the Tewksbury Town Crier, According to authorities, at approximately 9:45 a.m. on September 27, 1969, Lowell Police responded to a vacant field off Maple Street in Lowell for reports of the discovery of a male victim, obviously deceased.

The victim, identified as 15 year-old John Joseph McCabe, of Tewksbury, was bound with rope, with his eyes and mouth taped shut.

Authorities launched an immediate investigation into the circumstances of the killing. It was determined that McCabe disappeared after leaving a dance at the Knights of Columbus in Tewksbury and was reported missing by his parents hours later when he did not return home.

Due to recent evidentiary developments, coupled with a 41-year investigation, the three defendants were charged. It was alleged that Shelley, Ferreira and Brown were all involved in abducting the victim, holding him in a car against his will on September 27, 1969, where they assaulted him, and subsequently bound and gagged him in such a way that it led to his death.

It was alleged that Shelley drove the car to the vacant field on Maple Street in Lowell and that the defendants left the victim in the field, where he died alone.

The cause of death was determined to be asphyxia due to strangulation.

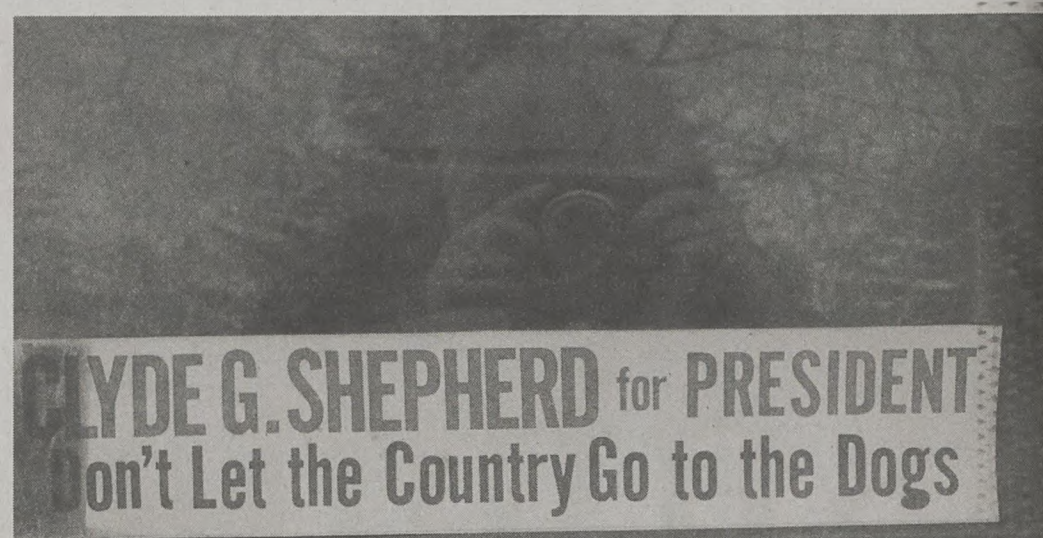

Shelley was convicted of murder. Ferreira was acquitted of murder. Brown pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

Clyde was running! His bumper sticker was popular a few decades ago. This (probably) last remaining example was damaged in the fire when the old North Wilmington Railroad Depot burned in 1988. Yep, that's your Editor Emeritus, Larz F. Neilson taking the photo at his home in Maine.

Just sayin' . . . ANYONE can run for President

Clyde, the canine candidate

By LARZ F. NEILSON

If I had told you in years past about a dog running for president, you probably would have put me in a jacket with extra-long sleeves. But that has all changed in this election cycle. Nothing is strange any more.

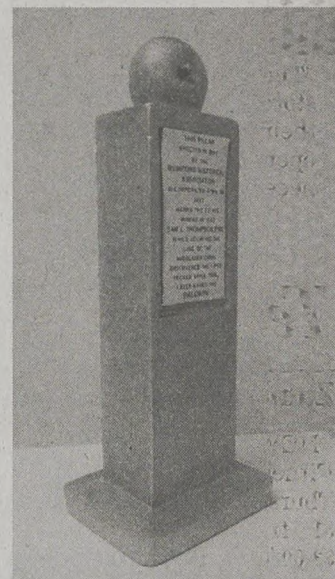

In 1980, there were bumper stickers reading, "Clyde G. Ghepherd for genius and maniac.

His first move was to create the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Pecker Apple Tree (BPOPAT). In recognition of Wilmington being the home of the Baldwin Apple, he had miniature Baldwin Apple Monuments cast. He would then have officers instituted in phony positions, such as the Grand though, to become the 40th president. Clyde did not get any votes.

Not to be relegated to the basement collections of strange bumper stickers, Clyde G. Shepherd turned to matters spiritual. Chemlen took on the pseudonym Fr. Clyde G. Shepherd. Of course, there was no such thing as ordination for a dog, much less an unhinged marketing exec.

That minor technicality, however, did not phase Chemlen. He purchased clerical garb, and headed for the Pentagon, dressed as a priest.

It was at this point that his employer determined that he had crossed the line from genius to maniac. The company fired him.

The Baldwin, or "Pecker" Apple

The name Pecker Apple is another name for the Baldwin Apple, also known as the Butters Apple. The apple variety was originally cultivated on the Butters farm in Wilmington. It was "discovered" in the late 1700s by Samuel Thompson, who heard a woodpecker hammering away at the tree. Thompson, a surveyor working on the Middlesex Canal, told his employer, engineer Laommi Baldwin of Woburn, of the tree. Baldwin took cuttings from the tree and propagated the variety. The Baldwin Apple Monument stands near the site of the original tree, near the Butters Farmhouse on Chestnut Street.

STATES ENCOURAGE RETIREMENT PLANS

Various states are promoting plans to increase the retirement savings of workers within their borders. Most particularly, they are encouraging firms that don't already offer retirement plans to set up and offer payroll deduction IRAs and enroll all the employees who don't opt out.

One of the first states to encourage these plans is Illinois. Starting next year, its law requires that any employer who has been in business there for at least two years, has at least 25 employees and has no other retirement plan would have to offer such an IRA setup. The IRAs would be funded with employee payroll deductions at three percent of salary, though the workers could change the percentage. There is no requirement for employer matching funds. Other states—Oregon, California and Massachusetts so far—are looking toward similar plans. President Obama has promoted similar programs for all small businesses.

Letters to the editor

A vote for Arthy Bennett

To the Editor:

There are a lot of new names on the ballot for Tewksbury School Committee this year. When I looked at the list of new candidates that turned in their papers the only name I recognized was Arthy Bennett. Arthy has been involved with the schools in almost every way imaginable by attending school committee meetings, working on the PACs, working on the board of the Tewksbury Education Foundation, and most recently she was part of the selection committee for the new school superintendent. Arthy has been making a positive impact in our children's lives since before many of us moved to town.

Arthy may be new to politics but I have watched her commit her time and energy over the past years and I know that her decision to run for school committee is another step forward for her and that she is looking to make even bigger strides in the improvement and enrichment of the Tewksbury educational system. Arthy Bennett has already done so much for the students of Tewksbury and I know that her presence on the school committee will benefit Tewksbury students of all ages in whatever achievements or opportunities they decide to seek.

I am proud to support Arthy Bennett's campaign and I strongly urge you to cast one of your votes for her on April 2nd.

Sincerely,
Jonathan Ciampa

We support Polimeno

We are writing to share our enthusiastic support for Krissy Polimeno for School Committee. Tewksbury is so fortunate to have a candidate of her caliber and dedication. As you are aware, Krissy has been member of the School Committee for the past 6 years and has children at the Ryan Elementary School, Wynn Middle School and Tewksbury High School. But her commitment to the Tewksbury Public Schools goes far beyond the interests of her own children. She she cares deeply about the quality of education for all students. Krissy believes that children are the future of our community and will work hard to ensure that the Tewksbury School System continues to provide the best possible education to prepare each child for a successful future. She has advocated fairly and passionately for students, families, teachers and administrators throughout her 6 years.

We look at Krissy as one of the pillars of our community and the type of individual that is the fabric of our town. Whether it is late nights after board meetings, fundraisers at the Tewksbury County Club, or early mornings coaching basketball, Krissy is everywhere! It is not just her hard work that impresses, it is her results and her essential skills as a team builder that set her apart. Krissy is a member of Tewksbury Girls Basketball League (TGBL) board and has brought leadership and experience that has benefited TGBL immensely. We recently have witnessed her political skill in successfully negotiating gym time between the boys and girls basketball leagues which has improved the two leagues' relationship. Her no nonsense but fair approach has bridged an important gap. Just Krissy being Krissy, and as great as it is for our respective leagues, what she does for our School system is by far her most important work.

Krissy has accomplished so much in her 6 years as a member of the school committee and her work is not done. We as a community need her to continue what has been a stellar job as evidenced by her being named as the recipient of the "All State School Committee Award" in 2012. The future of our school system and more importantly, our students, could not be in more capable hands.

We encourage all Tewksbury residents to reelect Krissy Polimeno on April 2nd.

Sincerely,
Annmarie & Mark Veits Jr.

Mail carriers and dangerous walking

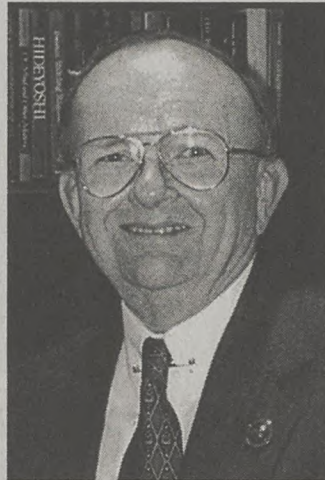

This column will focus on a few basic issues that we see around us in Town Crier land these days that are currently giving us some great days being warmer than normal but sure to drop sooner than we wish.

Comedy Central

The presidential election is bringing in the most laughs since Johnny Carson and Jack Parr for those who remember these two gentlemen or even Lucille Ball to add another to the list. The laughs come once a minute in these debates and sometimes twice a minute with two candidates over-talking each other to see who can get the last laugh, as they say.

This entire debate procedure would really be funny on Saturday Night Live. Oh, I forgot these segments have been on that show as well with clips repeated over and over again on network news. These folks are running to become president of the United States not "comedian of the week." Can you just imagine how our foreign nations and officials are talking about these debates and most especially some of the candidates. I really enjoy a fun person and a good joke but there is a place for everything and certainly not now in a world that has too many domestic and foreign policy issues than has any government in years.

My advice, simple as it may be, is put a stop to the critical comments of each other and provide us with positions they have or choices they will make to key government positions if they are elected with this being the case for both parties. Enough is enough.

Eversource issues continue

I reported in a recent column the first of the negatives coming out in Town Crier land opposed to the Eversource project route with signs showing up all over the place in the Cross and Washington Street area on the projected expansion of Eversource. This past week we saw the extension of this issue, as residents of Stoneham have gotten the message that the new power line would be more than likely going through their town.

The problem seems to be that the line will begin near the Medford-Everett border and come up towards the electrical station near the shores of Horn Pond on Cove St. The line supposedly would travel more than likely up Lake Avenue in Woburn to Cross Street in Winchester, left on Washington Street and head toward Stoneham either via Montvale Avenue in Woburn or Forest Street in Winchester with the line heading north in Stoneham and east towards Wakefield.

Apparently the specifics are still being discussed. Reports are that the line is needed to supply more power for the area and that attempts will be made to minimize the disruption of as many residents as possible. This process is not simple as Public Hearings are being scheduled to work out the specifics but it seems like the march to do this is on and could be unstoppable because of necessary lines needed, unless some other installation geography is used in other communities and other non-residential areas.

Mailmen as heroes

I often talk about various heroes in this column but this is a shout out to the outstanding "under the radar" stories that I continue to read and hear about the mail carriers who find their daily visits to a home vital to the health of an individual finding "something looking different" with a police request to do a check of the house to see if the occupant is okay.

Police respond in their usual expeditious manner to check on a resident as reported to usually find all is okay, but this year it seems many calls result with patients unable to get to the door or to a phone and needing medical or family assistance. Yes, mail carriers have a difficult job but also I have seen this year many cases of life-saving calls by carriers to homes throughout Massachusetts.

I have no relatives in the Postal Service but feel that they are one of the most under-appreciated groups of workers in operations for all of us every day of the week in various locations. Let me add that this pertains to the office window postal workers as well. Check out the lines at these windows and make your own conclusion.

Crosswalks

Picture the situation when two lines of traffic on a four lane road in some communities come to a crosswalk with a pedestrian crossing the street, the nearest vehicle driver to the pedestrian stops to let the person cross but the vehicle on the inside lane is blocked from seeing the person. What happens could be a disaster for both a driver and most important the pedestrian crossing.

While the pedestrian has the right of way, do you think we should educate them on how to cross the street with caution and be alert to on-coming traffic. Maybe, I am asking too much.

A vote for George Ferdinand

Dear Tewksbury Residents, I'm not very politically connected in town, but I do follow a lot of what goes on in our town. I'd like to tell you about a gentleman I met a few years ago, whom I consider to be a close friend, and a man with great ideas. His name is George Ferdinand and I believe he cares for our town a lot more than you can believe. He is running for a Board of Health seat and let me tell you, don't let him get away. He has great ideas for this town and is absolutely willing to listen to any of your ideas too. Please put your vote in for George. You can be sure his ideas will represent you, the town of Tewksbury.

Vote for George,
I am,

Moved by caring cops

Dear editor

I was moved by last month's Tewksbury Town Crier article featuring the local police department's fundraiser and police cruiser convoy for 3-year-old cancer warrior Gianna Lesselroth. What further impresses me is that this display of selflessness is no rare event for the Tewksbury PD—in recent years it has hosted a total of five similar events, aimed at raising money for medical expenses and empowering children who are fighting cancer.

Particularly through the Cops for Kids with Cancer program, the local police department continues to contribute to the Tewksbury community in a way that defies increasingly-prevalent media portrayals of police departments as being brash and lacking in moral judgments. The responsibilities of police officers transcend the traditional gun and badge image—they serve as role models, community advocates, guardians, protectors from crime and cancer alike. Few community police departments understand this better than Tewksbury's.

The more than $1.4 million in financial aid raised for over 280 families through Cops for Kids with Cancer is a true testament to department's willingness to serve the people of Tewksbury, both on- and off-duty. In a time when some police departments are making headlines for bad practices, the Tewksbury PD is a refreshing example of a police force in touch with the needs, values and spirit of its community. Supporting these unselfish public servants, who devote their lives to the betterment of our community, is crucial. Our community should stand tall behind our police unions, and work to protect those who protect us.

Vote for Polimeno

I am writing this letter to the great residents of Tewksbury to tell you about a fantastic woman, mother, friend and our present School Committee Chairperson, Krissy Polimeno. If you haven't had the chance to meet her and know her you're missing out on a multi-talented professional person whose recent duties and tireless efforts on behalf of parents, students and our great community are amazing.

She is a wonderful wife to her husband Phil and a loving mother to her three great kids. She volunteers on numerous committees, she coaches multiple teams and is a great supporter of the Tewksbury Schools and Athletic Programs. She has performed her duties professionally as a School Committee member and as the present Chairperson in difficult times always keeping the students of our town as the primary focus and goal. She has overseen many prominent, critical topics as Chairperson of the Tewksbury School Committee.

The endless hours Krissy spends on school events, fundraising and performing her assigned duties are unbelievable. To be honest, no one realizes the time spent to do the job and position correctly. I know the effort she exerts on behalf of the students and families of Tewksbury and she should be commended and appreciated by all of us.

It is because of all of the above statements which is why I encourage you to join me in supporting Krissy Polimeno for School Committee in Tewksbury. She is a proven leader and has the experience and knowledge to keep our schools headed in the right direction. She will always have our students best interests first, and is forever cognizant of the financial restrictions we as a community have to deal with on a regular basis. We have the right person doing the job now in Krissy Polimeno. Please join me and let's continue to have her working for our children and the future leaders of tomorrow. She has done a marvelous job.

Please cast your vote for Krissy Polimeno for School Committee on April 2nd in our town election.

Sincerely,
Viny Fratalia

40 years of Fun on the 4th

Dear Larz,

Thank you for your wonderful article on 40 years of the 4th of July. It was a chronicle of my 40 year history.

In 1975, I was appointed to the Bicentennial Committee. When that celebration ended, I became Chairman of the 250th Anniversary Committee. Jack Cushing started the 4th of July Committee, which I am happy to say, I am still a member.

40 years seems like only yesterday. Again, thank you for my walk down Memory Lane. I hope the Fun on the Fourth tradition continues for another 40 years.

Yours Truly,

Joan Maga

Reliv International

Reliv International is the leader in nutritional epigenetics that has been around for twenty-seven years and has a line of effective nutritional supplements from patented scientific formulas. It is a food science company that has the exclusive rights to lunasin.

Lunasin is the first dietary compound with an identifiable epigenetic mechanism of action. This mechanism was identified by Dr. Alfredo Galvez in 1996 and patented in 1999. Since its discovery, scientists have identified lunasin's many health benefits it has by repairing the damaged DNA helix. That is what is causing all of these chronic diseases-damage to the DNA helix.

Epigenetics is a new and revolutionary science that is explaining how life styles, life experiences and exposures directly affect gene expression without mutating the physical DNA structure.

The focus of nutritional epigenetics is to identify how specific dietary compounds such as vitamins, minerals, phytonutrients, and bio-actives affect your genes and overall health. Back in May of 2014, Channel 5 news did a segment on Reliv, Dr. Galvez and nutritional epigenetics.

I help people with addictions, allergies, ALS, arthritis, asthma, autism, cancer (cells can no longer divide), cholesterol reduction without statin drugs, chronic pain, Crohn's disease, cystic fibrosis, diabetes (type 2), Lyme disease, mental health issues (such as

12th Annual Belle of the Ball Prom Dress Drive

February 1 through
March 26

For the 12th time, Caring Partners' "Belle of the Ball" prom dress drive is back to help high school junior and senior girls who may choose not to attend this major life event due to financial constraints. On February 1, Anton's Cleaners kicks off its 12th annual Belle of the Ball Prom Dress Collection program at all Anton's Cleaners and Jordan's Furniture locations through March 26. The public is invited to help by donating good quality, gently worn or new prom dresses and like-new special occasion purses. Anton's Cleaners then cleans the donated prom dresses at no charge and distributes to high school junior and senior girls who could not otherwise afford to attend their school's prom. See antons.com and jordan.com for store locations. Monetary and in-kind donations are also welcome to cover jewelry, makeup and other accessories and prom-related services; visit antons.com/belle. Unlike other prom gown collection drives, this program culminates in a free, day-long

"boutique" where deserving girls are invited for a day of personal shopping and pampering. Since attendance to Boutique Day is "invitation only," students must be pre-qualified by guidance counselors, teachers and social service agency personnel, who refer high school girls to the program. Referrals are welcome through antons.com/belle. Promotional partners on board this year include: Anton's Cleaners, Jordan's Furniture, FOX25, The Bull 101.7, Kiss 108 FM, JAM'N 94.5, and Wicked Local. Jefferson's Monticello

BY PAIGE IMPINK
Crier Correspondent

On the doorstep of Shenandoah National Park and the picturesque Skyline Drive, sits Thomas Jefferson's beloved home, Monticello. You may know Jefferson as the author of the Declaration of Independence, but he was also a lawyer and a legislator, a tobacco farmer and a slave owner, an inventor and a statesman. Though the construction of Monticello had been completed while he was the governor of Virginia, Jefferson's subsequent travels and five year stint in France so influenced him that he re-designed and renovated the house nearly eighteen years later, resulting in the fine neoclassical property that visitors see today.

Located in Charlottesville, Virginia, Monticello was originally part of a five thousand acre plantation approximately two and a half hours south of the District of Columbia. Today the property is managed by the Thomas Jefferson Foundation and offers tours and educational resources. As is the norm with other popular historic properties, guests arrive at a handsome visitor center which offers an overview film, two floors of exhibits, and a comfortable museum shop and café. The historic Michie Tavern is also on the property and offers colonial fare in a buffet style that is appealing to hungry travelers.

A shuttle bus brings visitors up to the neo-classical house, which sits atop a majestic, rolling hill. The view of the valley below is lovely, with the Blue Ridge Mountains in the distance. Docent-guided tours bring visitors through the house, restored as accurately as possible based on inventory notes. One can see inventions that Jefferson utilized throughout the house and the architectural features that he incorporated in order to take advantage of natural light, ventilation, and creature comforts of the day - several of which were European-inspired. Jefferson was a dedicated collector of books and a prolific writer of letters. He used a polygraph to make copies of most of the letters he wrote, and he used a cipher wheel to create messages in secret code. The kids were quite intrigued!

Through modern archaeological efforts, the slave quarters that supported the operations of Monticello have been resurrected. Interpretive signs and fine exhibits bring the buzz of the kitchen, tool rooms, stables and living areas back to life. Monticello was at its height of production during the late 1700s and early 1800s. As with Washington and Mount Vernon, there is an irony that the founding fathers, in support of liberty and freedom, could not themselves shed their own enslaved workers. Indeed, Jefferson's relationship with the slave Sally Hemmings is touched upon delicately at Monticello.

The extensive gardens at Monticello encompass flowers, trees, pavilions and a greenhouse. Jefferson, with his origins in farming, was a fierce documenter of his plantings. He was proud of his clusters of ornamentals, allées of poplars, and rows and rows of vegetables, including his favorite peas. Lest we forget, not only was Jefferson the author of the Declaration of Independence, he was our third President, a Governor of Virginia, and the founder of the University of Virginia.

If your time allows, consider traveling Skyline Drive, part of Shenandoah National Park. This famous road along the Blue Ridge Mountains is a slow meander through one of our nation's most scenic areas. Your visit to Monticello will leave you impressed and enlightened, not only about Thomas Jefferson but about the excitement and innovation of the era. www.monticello.org and www.nps.gov/shen

A garden pavilion set amongst the many vegetable gardens, vineyards and berry squares that Jefferson maintained on his property. As a working farm, Monticello had to support the Jefferson family and all of its support staff, otherwise known as enslaved. Jefferson spent a great deal of time experimenting with farming, trying to improve the crop growing process.

About gum disease:

Your bad breath and bleeding gums may be telling you something

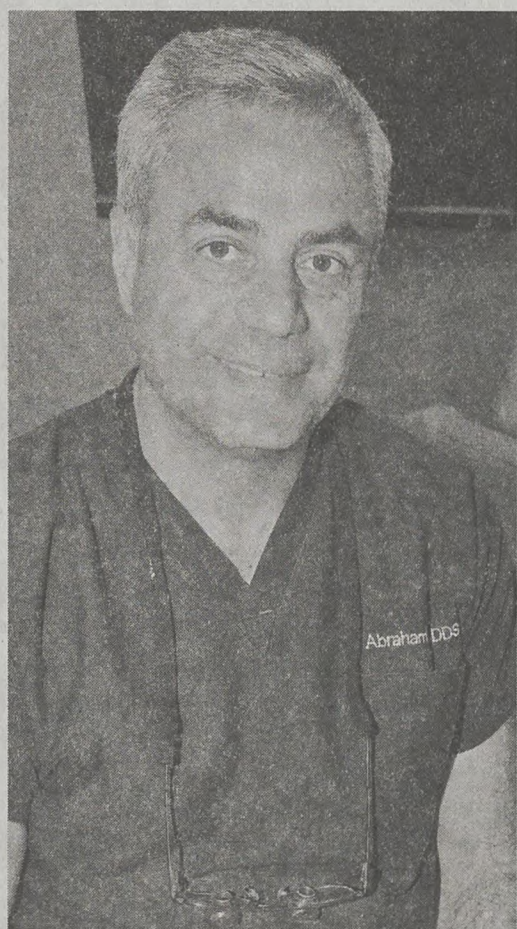

BY SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

If your friends keep offering you a stick of gum to buffer bad breath or you avoid flossing for fear of bloodshed in your mouth, it may be time to see the dentist: the culprit could be gum disease.

Gum disease is an inflammation of the tissues surrounding and supporting the teeth. A major factor in tooth loss in adults, it affects almost 50 percent of the U.S. population over the age of 30 and increases with age, occurring in more than 70 percent of people over 65 according to the American Dental Association (ADA) and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Gum disease begins as gingivitis, simple inflammation marked by red, swollen gums. Bad oral hygiene - inconsistent brushing and flossing - causes plaque to build up, and over time, grow below the gum line, infecting tissue around the teeth. If left untreated, it may advance to periodontitis, a gum infection which damages the soft tissue and bone supporting the teeth.

"Gum disease covers both gingivitis, which is reversible, and periodontitis, which is not reversible but manageable," said Dr. Sevak Abrahamian, DDS, who has practiced in Wilmington for 16 years. "The number one sign of gingivitis is bleeding gums when brushing or flossing. It is a sign of inflammation." With good home and professional care you shouldn't see bleeding, he said, adding, "If untreated, periodontitis can result in the irreversible loss of bone supporting the teeth and in some individuals, this could mean the loss of all teeth and ultimately jaw deformity."

There are numerous warning signs for gum disease: bad breath or a persistent bad taste in the mouth; red or swollen gums; tender or bleeding gums; loose, sensitive or shifting teeth; and changes in bite or in the fit of partial dentures.

Other factors contributing to gum disease, according to the Mayo Clinic, can include smoking or substance abuse; hormonal changes during puberty, pregnancy or menopause; poor nutrition; medications causing dry mouth; illnesses that affect the immune system such as cancer, and even heredity - family history of gum disease is a risk factor. "It is very important to discuss the history of gum disease with parents and grandparents," said Abrahamian.

Neglected teeth and gums can lead to problems beyond the mouth; researchers have been studying the connection between poor oral health and health problems such as cardiovascular disease, respiratory disease or diabetes.

"Research is still ongoing," said Abrahamian. "One of connections we have seen is the bacteria - the germ that causes gum problems - affecting cardiovascular (heart) tissues. People with diabetes are more prone to the breakdown of gum tissue because of their compromised immune system. And in females, we have seen the connection between bad oral health and premature or low birth-weight babies."

Fortunately, studies have shown that the consequences of gum disease improved with treatment. Harvard Health Publications and The American Journal of Preventative Medicine reported better health among people with common medical issues who were treated for gum disease "evidenced by lower health care costs and fewer hospitalizations."

recommends a comprehensive annual exam to screen for gum disease. However if you notice any of the warning signs - bleeding gums in particular - schedule an appointment with your dentist, advises Abrahamian.

To screen for gum disease, discuss the following at your next dentist appointment:

The use of a fluoride, mouth rinse, toothpaste, floss and recommended toothbrushes to best remove plaque, based on the condition of your teeth and gums.

How often you need dental checkups. "Family history of gum disease may require more careful monitoring by your dentist and hygienist because some people may be at higher risk," said Abrahamian.

The proper way (and how often) to brush and floss. Abrahamian recommends patients brush twice a day and floss once, in the evening. "If it is done right, that should be adequate," he said. "I ask patients to floss then brush. Some do it the other way around."

Your oral habits: whether you smoke, eat poorly or grind/clench your teeth.

Review your overall health with your dentist, he or she is a valuable part of your health care team. Abrahamian adds that in addition to gum disease, regular dental visits can also screen and detect oral cancer, an aggressive but curable disease if found in time.

For more information on gum disease, Dr. Abrahamian and his staff are happy to answer any questions. Call 978-877-4330 or visit: www.wilmingtondds.com

In both Tewksbury and Wilmington editions of the Crier this week is a lead story about the safe disposal of unwanted / unused drugs. This is Tewksbury's disposal kiosk. Wilmington has a similar one at the police station. Deputy Chief John Voto and Lt. James McKenna encourage use of the kiosk located at the Tewksbury Police Department for dropping of unwanted and outdated perscription drugs. Photo by Maureen Brady

The property owned by the Town of Wilmington off of RT 38 nearing the Woburn line is home of the historic Middlesex Canal Walk, a soft ball field and many different species of flora and fauna is being turned into a dog park. One might wonder how the Wilmington Conservation Commission allowed this unnecessary destruction of a beautiful and natural forest area which many people already use to hike and walk their dogs. Dog parks for the most part don't work. Penned in dogs of a variety of species usually do not get along, so what we will end up with are Vet bills and court costs ... don't you think? photo and opinion:

that was Other lost courses may be the casualties of shifting student interest and teach availability.

"Popular Music and Music Theory are being deleted due to lack of enrollment and teacher availability," Peters told the committee. "I think the performing arts, the popularity now is theater arts. That's where we have our numbers: theater arts and the chorus."

"I have to say that I am truly disappointed that we are losing two performing art classes," committee member Mary Byrnes commented.

Newly added courses include International Business, AP Physics 1, Math Topics, Honors Statistics

"I am glad to hear that we are adding an International Business course," said committee member Manny Mulas. "With the economy that we are in, it's all global business."

Peters confirmed that such business courses are a large draw for current high school students.

The changes proposed by Peters were met with approval by the school committee and Superintendent Mary DeLai.

Students recognized for this honor include: Connor M. Burke, Matthew R. Figucia, Tyler Maffei, Simon W. Nichols.

Each school and college at Boston University has their own criterion for the Dean's List, but students generally must attain a 3.5 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale), or be in the top 30 percent of their class, as well as a full course load as a full time student.

Wilmington students honored at Rensselaer

Approximately 2,000 students at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute were named to the Dean's Honor List for the Fall 2015 semester. The Dean's Honor List recognizes full-time students who maintain grade-point averages of a minimum of 3.50 out of a possible 4.0 and have no grades below "C."

Making the list from Wilmington includes Erin

Berube, Brian Priem, Christopher and Nicholas Michelangelo.

Founded in 1824, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute is America's oldest technological research university. For nearly two centuries, the Institute has been a driving force behind breakthroughs in engineering and science in virtually every arena-from transportation and infrastructure to business, medicine, outer space, and cyberspace.

As it approaches its bicentennial anniversary, the Institute continues to define The New Polytechnic, a new paradigm for teaching, learning, and research that uses advanced technologies to enable fresh collaborations across disciplines, sectors, and regions.

servative, and how I will view myself on the Board. I want to maintain all the services that the people of Wilmington deserve, and do it in an affordable way," said Caira.

"Wilmington is a great place to bring a family up. I graduated from Wilmington High School, brought up our kids in Wilmington, and they had a great education as well. The services in Wilmington, the DPW, the Fire and Police [departments], they give great service, and I just want to make sure [the Town] still receives that level of service."

Close friend of Caira's, Lennie Malvone, spoke with the Crier. "When my wife was terminally ill, Kevin and his whole family were there for me. I was in a pretty bad spot. You don't see that often. They were there to see if we were alright. They went above and beyond for me," adding, "He comes from a family that really cares. That kind of caring is genuine," said Malvone.

Other town races

In other news, newcomer candidate for School Committee and Woburn Street resident, Thomas Talbot, was the first to return papers for certification by the Town Clerk's office.

Incumbent Chair Peggy Kane and member Julie Broussard have both returned papers for certification.

Incumbent Kathleen Carroll has not pulled nomination papers for a second term. All School Committee seats are three-year terms.

Robert Peterson, Sr. is up for re-election for the Shawsheen Regional Vocational Technical School Committee, a three-year term. He pulled his nomination papers Monday, January 11.

The deadline for candidates to return papers is Thursday, March 3 by 5 pm. Each candidate must have at least 50 certified signatures.

The Annual Town Election is April 23 and the Annual Town Meeting is April 30.

Division 1 North Boys Hockey

Wildcats draw old rival in first round of tourney

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

By the time this newspaper was having its finishing touches put on, the Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team made its first state tournament appearance since losing in the sectional final two years ago. The Wildcats finished the regular season with an 11-8-1 record and for that were seeded No. 9 and took on the No. 8 seed Newburyport (12-7-3) Clippers in a Division 1 North sectional tournament quarterfinal round game played at the Chelmsford Forum.

If the Wildcats prevail over Newburyport, it would then face the No. 1 seed Arlington Spy Ponders on Saturday with the location and time yet to be announced. Arlington along with fellow Middlesex League foe Reading were both defeated in Monday's play-in games of the Super-8 tournament, thus becoming the top two seeds of the D1 tournament.

"(We are) renewing a bitter rivalry from our time in the Cape Ann League (with Newburyport)," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "Newburyport are always a physical, tough, hard working team. They are well-coached. I think it is a pretty even match-up. Goaltending is always big in the tournament. A hot goalie can carry a team. We will need to bring our 'A' game. As far as Arlington is concerned, we played well against them during the regular season, a 3-2 loss. They have a high octane offense, that must be controlled. We need to make the most of your chances as we're not going to get a lot of time in the offensive zone."

This is the third year of the four year cycle with Wilmington being moved up from Division 2 to Division 1. After next year, the alignment will be reconstructed and you would think (but then again it's the MIAA), the 'Cats will go back down to where they belong in Division 2. Until then it's competing against D1 teams, first Newburyport, and then possibly Arlington.

"Division 1 there's no fooling around," said Scanlon. "Sometimes in Division 2 you may get a game or two where you barely break a sweat but that's not happening here in Division 1. It's always a one game thing and anything can happen. We have been the No. 1 seed and have been blasted out of the building and I have seen Cinderella teams go right through to the Garden, so it's up for grabs for anyone."

Last year, Burlington lost in the play-in game and the Red Devils were the favorites to win the D1 North section but instead Arlington Catholic skated past Arlington. Those two teams along with Reading and fellow Middlesex League teams Winchester and Woburn, as well as handful of others like St. Mary's of Lynn, Andover and Chelmsford are just some of the outstanding clubs that will take part in this single elimination tournament.

Before knowing who the team would face, Scanlon had this to offer after beating Tewksbury 2-0 in a non-league game to close out the regular season on Friday night.

"We should be right in the middle where we want to be," he said. "We're hoping we face somebody that's more of our speed instead of facing one of the monsters first. I think we could face Waltham, Newburyport or Andover, all teams we should be able to deal with. We want to stay away from Reading and some of those teams. We skated with Winchester and Woburn, but I'd like that game back against Woburn. It was the first game of the season and we were all over the place. I'd like to face them again and see what happens."

Wilmington is pretty young this season so the 11 wins are certainly been impressive. The 'Cats have been led by its first line of Brian Cavanaugh (8-12-20), Eric Steeves (11-8-19) and Josh Buske (9-10-19), who have combined for 28 goals and 30 assists. The second line of Danny Woods, Tom Worob and Cole Walsh have combined for 17 goals and 14 assists. Defenseman Joe Kelley has been solid, while, goaltender Nick Russo, who has emerged as the No. 1 goalie after splitting duties for most of the season with Ryan St. Jean, comes in with a 92 percent save rate and a 2.06 GAA.

"We want to rest up over the weekend, then we need to get everything covered beforehand so we're brought up to speed for the tournament," said Scanlon.

If Wilmington prevails in the first two rounds over Newburyport and Arlington, it would play in the sectional semi-finals on Tuesday at the Chelmsford Forum against St. Mary's/Triton-Chelmsford or Bishop Fenwick.

Senior goalie returns strong after appendix procedure

No pain (now) but a lot to gain for Russo

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

TEWKSBURY - Before this season started, Nick Russo had never had a varsity win or a shutout. And before February 14th, he never had the pain that he felt during that 24-hour span.

This past Friday night, the senior goalie made all 30 saves to lead the Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team to a 2-0 win over Tewksbury in a non-league game to close out the regular season before the post-season begins later this week. It was the first game back for Russo, who 12 days earlier was in the hospital.

"I just started to have this weird pain feeling in my stomach," described Russo of the uncomfortable feeling he had back on Valentine's Day evening. "I was throwing up all night and the next morning my Dad said that I had to be more than just sick so he took me to the Emergency Room at Winchester Hospital. (The doctors) said it was a possible appendicitis. They ended up doing a CAT Scan and (determined) I had a ruptured appendix."

That day, Monday, February 15th, at nearly the same time his Wildcat teammates were taking on Wakefield, Russo had laparoscopic surgery. "After that, the doctor said I'd be back in a week and since I've been back I'm fine, no pain or anything," said Russo.

That was clearly evident on Friday night. He made all 30 saves in the team's win. He looked sharp, focused, his mobility and lateral movements were outstanding, and he got peppered with shots, especially early on. That's pretty impressive considering where he was just a few weeks back.

"He reported no soreness, nothing," said WHS Head Coach Steve Scanlon. "It's amazing what (doctors) can do now. We thought it may have been season ending, but now it's a laparoscopic procedure and he's back in no time. He was gone for seven days with no contact or nothing and now he's back."

Russo must have thought he was still in the hospital living through another nightmare during the first period against Tewksbury. His teammates didn't show up and let the Redmen take complete control of the game holding an 11-1 advantage in the shot department. Russo kept the game scoreless.

"The first period was a little rough," said Russo. "We couldn't connect on a lot of our passes. Then in the second period, we came out flying and once we got that first goal we played much better. The first period has always been a problem for us but usually in the second and third periods we put it together."

Wilmington did. The team played much better in the final two periods scoring a goal in each period for the 2-0 win. Russo was very strong inbetween the pipes in the middle half of the third period making three critical saves on a Tewksbury power play to keep the game 1-0. He said that it was just a normal day for him in terms of health.

"I wasn't stiff or (sore) or anything like that. I was ready to go," he said.

Before the season started, Scanlon said that he was surprised with how well both goalies were doing, Russo and Ryan St. Jean. Russo had very minimal varsity experience playing just a handful of minutes last year as the team's back-up to Glenn Sullivan.

Both Russo and St. Jean alternated throughout most of the season but Scanlon said that Russo will get the nod come state tournament play which starts this week.

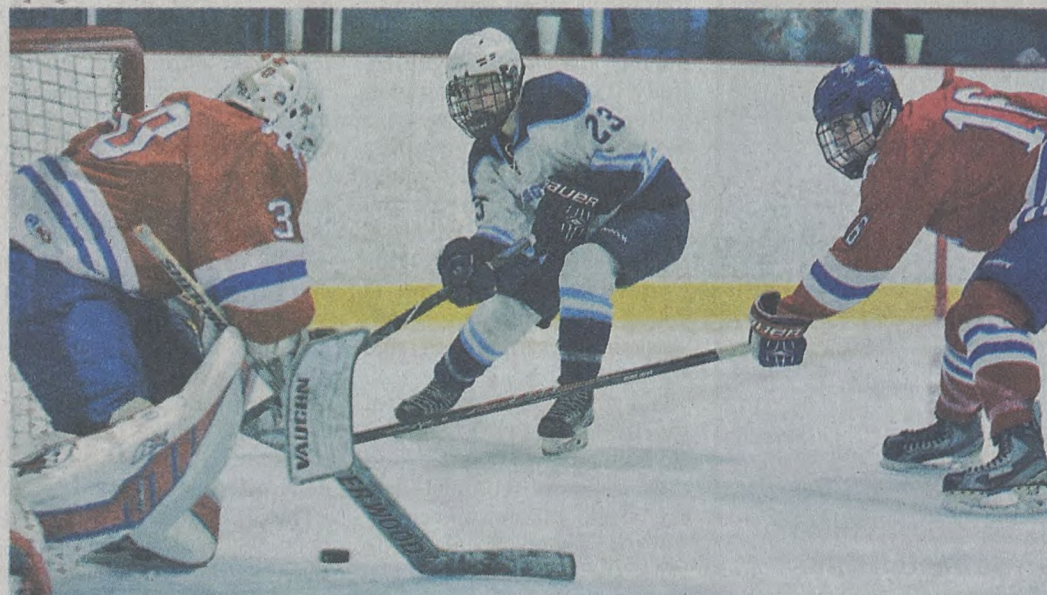

"Nick has (more) experience and he has a good feeling around the net," said Scanlon. "He knows what is around him and he knows when to take the puck out of play and how to calm things down. Plus he's got a good glove."

Russo was asked about the competitive nature he's had with St. Jean.

"It's really not that competitive. I actually drive (St. Jean) to school everyday so we're cool about it," he said with a laugh.

While they have remained good friends throughout the battle and season, Russo said that nailing down the No. 1 spot is what he has

All State Wrestling Maxwell advances to NE Meet

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

BrendanMFoley@Outlook.com

READING- For the first time since 2007, a Wilmington High School wrestler has qualified to wrestle in the New England Regional tournament.

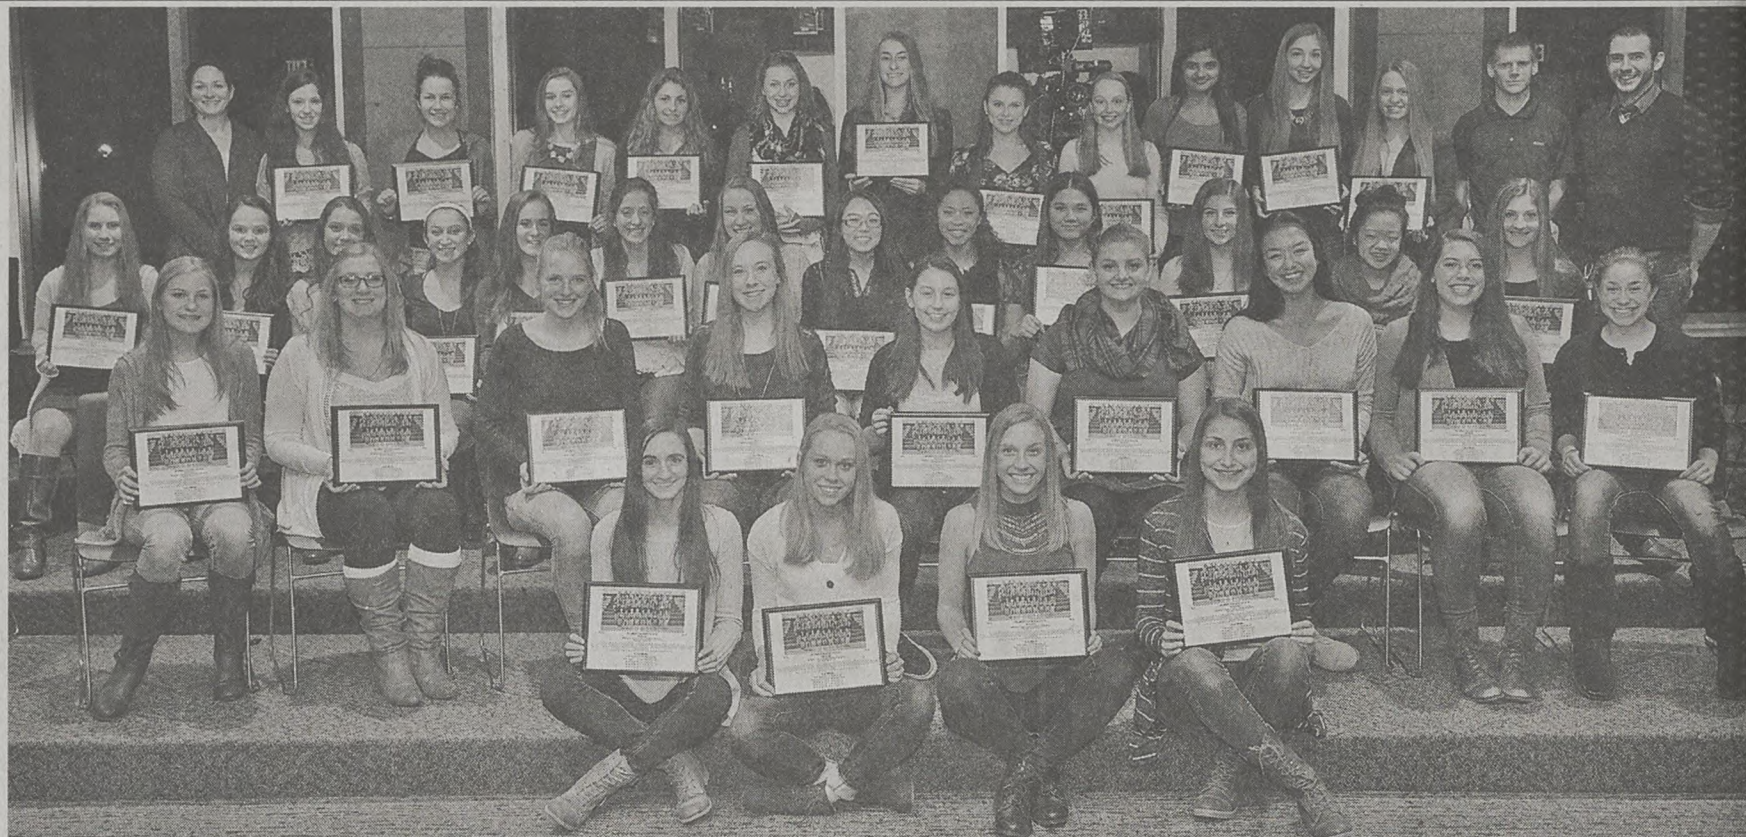

Fox Maxwell, a senior, qualified this past weekend when he placed fourth in the All-State tournament hosted at Reading Memorial High School.

"I just put in another good week of training," Maxwell said. "I fixed my mistakes from the state finals and really just got ready to wrestle."

Maxwell is the first Wildcat to place in an All-State tournament since Steve Sugrue in 2007. Sugrue, then a junior, placed sixth at 125 pounds.

By placing in the All-States, Maxwell qualifies for the New England Regional Wrestling Championship, currently the most advanced tournament for high school wrestling. Maxwell will travel to Providence, Rhode Island to wrestle at the Providence Career and Technical Academy on Friday and Saturday.

"I just think I'm getting better and better as the week goes on," Maxwell said. "I really think I can win a New England title this weekend. I think I'm peaking at the right time and what I learned from this weekend is that even if I go up against a better wrestler than me, if I play it the right way I can beat them."

Maxwell, wrestling at 138 pounds, went 4-2 across Friday and Saturday, bringing his season record to 23-3.

Both of Maxwell's losses this weekend were against Austin Roche of Algonquin High School. Maxwell and Roche first met up in the second round of the tournament, where Roche stunned both Maxwell and coach Joel McKenna with a quick pin after 47 seconds.

"He shot in and he got a cradle and he pinned me and that was it," Maxwell said.

"Maxwell was hanging his head a little too low and the kid caught him and put him in a real tight cradle and pinned him," said McKenna.

McKenna stated that you would have to go back to early in Maxwell's sophomore year to find another occasion when he was pinned by an opponent.

The consolation finals of the All-States gave Maxwell a chance for a rematch. Roche had been knocked out by Hunter Costa of St. John's Prep in an 8-1 decision, and he now faced Maxwell to determine third and fourth place.

This time, there would be no quick and easy pin for Roche.

"I knew he was stronger but that I was the better wrestler," Maxwell said. "I rode him out on top for about a period and a half."

"Those cradles that he put Fox in are a big weapon. We knew what to look out for," McKenna said. "During the second period we were outworking him. Fox was being tough on top, trying to turn him and trying to get him in the cradle. Fox wrestled a fantastic match."

Heading into the final period of the match, Maxwell led Roche with a 5-4 advantage, only to repeat a mistake from their first showdown and give Roche too easy access at his head. Roche sprang on the error and made the pin.

"I was riding him, I was almost turning him, and then with all of thirty seconds left he got a headlock and pinned me," Maxwell said.

The losses against Roche do not deter Maxwell from the exceptional weekend of competition he experienced. For his opening match, he made a thorough victory against Alan Rivera-Moore of Springfield Central, defeating him 7-0.

After his initial, shocking loss to Roche, Maxwell shook it off and went to work against Christian Echevarria, the Division 2 state champion, from Beverly.

"The kid [Echevarria] was tough, really tough, especially since we had never seen him before," McKenna said. "He was a big kid, liked to use his legs a lot, so we were real focused on battling that. The kid never got a chance to get on top and do some damage."

Maxwell made the pin at 2:42 minutes.

Jeremy Su of Natick was Maxwell's next opponent, with a distinctive style that McKenna and Maxwell studied and built a strategy around.

"He [Su] had a certain style that revolved around trying to control the head," McKenna said. "He was going to try and use his hands to snap down and control Maxwell's head. Knowing that, we knew what to be aware from the start of the match and Maxwell knew how to execute our offensive plan."

In the consolation semifinals, Maxwell was paired up with Brandon Layton of New Bedford the second place finish of Division 1.

"They had similar styles to each other," McKenna said. "At that point, Maxwell had a lot of confidence that he could beat anybody at that point. It was a good match because when you have a similar style to someone you know which way to move, which attacks will work for you, and which won't."

Starting this Friday at the NE Meet, Maxwell can expect to face some of the absolute strongest competition in the country including, potentially, Roche.

"I wouldn't really do anything differently, but I would know that the way he beat me was by catching me with my head down," Maxwell said. "Now that it has happened twice, there is no way it is going to happen a third time. There's no way."

Softball players get a big workout

It's 9:30 Sunday morning and the temperature is -13°F. While most of us see days like today as an opportunity to sleep in or lounge with the Sunday paper and a coffee, Body Infusion in Wilmington is rocking and rolling with activity. Music is pumping out over the sound system but it is no match for the ever encouraging voice of trainer Rose Ryan. Her clients on this day are 13 young ladies from Tewksbury ranging in age from 9-13.

The girls are members of the Tewksbury Girls Softball Redmen travel teams and they recently completed a six week off-season conditioning program at Body Infusion. Trainer and Co-Owner Rose Ryan prepared an age appropriate combination of tabata, speed work, agility training, cardio bag, TRX, resistance training and other boot camp style drills to help prepare the girls for their upcoming season.

Besides preparing the girls for the summer season where temperatures soar into the nineties and they can play up to four games in a day, healthy exercise habits are formed and instilled.

This group of girls are comprised of players from the 10U, 12U and 14U teams and they brought high energy and enthusiasm to the program and their dedication to becoming better and stronger ball players was evident with each session.

The 12U and 14U teams open the season on May 13-15th hosting the 8th Annual Think Pink Tournament. The 10U team begins June 10-12th hosting the 10U Think Pink Tournament.

No pain (now) but a lot to gain for Nick Russo worked so hard for over the years.

"No doubt, this is what I have wanted all season," he said. "So I'm hoping that I have locked up the number one spot here for the tournament."

After Friday's win, Russo has a record of 6-5-1, which includes a 2.06 Goals Against Average and a .92 save percentage rate. In his first three games, he let in a combined 13 goals against Woburn, Masconomet and Acton-Boxboro, but since then he has given up six in his last eight games including shut out wins over the defending Division 3 state champs of Watertown, and then against Tewksbury. He's also had some tough losses, including gem performances against Burlington, Winchester and Stoneham, three games where the offense put up doughnuts. After Friday's contest, Wilmington now has 12 wins.

"I thought we had a solid team from the start, so getting twelve wins really isn't a shock to me," he said.

And what does the team need to do to make it at least 13 wins with a first round tournament victory?

"We can't have a slow first period. We have to come out and play in all three periods," he said.

With a healthy and red-hot goalie in the net, those are two winning ingredients to success.

Town Crier's annual state tournament predictions

It's that time again - time for Town Crier Sports Guys Jamie Pote and Mike Ippolito to go out on a limb with their high school basketball and ice hockey predictions. Last year, it was more or less a tie, depending on how you look at it. Ippolito had four sectional winners correctly picked and he predicted 13 of 28 teams to reach the sectional finals correctly. On the other hand, Pote had just two sectional winners out of 14 and he predicted 14 of the 28 teams to reach the sectional finals correctly.

So here goes with this year's predictions, which were made on Monday morning (D1 North Hockey on Tuesday morning) before the tournament began.

Pote Boys Hoop

D1 North: Lowell over St. John's Prep - I think this is one of many sectionals which are wide open. Lowell has been pretty dynamic over the season and I don't see Cambridge making it back to the final.

D2 North: New Mission over Salem - It appears as if New Mission is the team to beat, although Salem is loaded and have grabbed the No. 5 seed as if that was the case I think arguably the most balanced and all-around Redmen teams in a long time could have made some noise, but AC will just be too tough of a hill to climb.

D3 North: Lynnfield over Watertown - I'm not sold on Watertown, but there's no one else on that side that impresses me and the Red Raiders still face very tough competition during the regular season.

D4 North: Pope John over St. Mary's - I always seem to pick St. Mary's in every sport. For that school to compete in D4 in hoop just always seems like a cakewalk.

Girls Hoop

D1 North: Lowell over Chelmsford - Would be an awesome battle with Lowell's awesome 1-2 punch vs Chelmsford's awesome 1-2 punch. When it comes to post-season, usually the Big Horses are the difference.

D2 North: AC over Watertown - It's too bad Tewksbury lost earlier regular games to Melrose and Methuen and have grabbed the No. 5 seed as if that was the case I think arguably the most balanced and all-around Redmen teams in a long time could have made some noise, but AC will just be too tough of a hill to climb.

D3 North: St. Mary's over North Reading - Again with a pick of St. Mary's.

D4 North: Mystic Valley over Fenway - Just seeing scores, MV trounces everyone so going with that pick.

Boys Hockey

D1A: BC High over Malden Catholic - BC High is too talented not to come away with the championship.

D1 North: Reading over Arlington - Reading is so talented, so quick and explosive and although this bracket is completely loaded, I don't see any other team overtaking them.

D2 North: Boston Latin over Tewksbury - This bracket is completely wide open and should have a ton of upsets. BL is very talented but have been all over the map lately. Tewksbury should win its side of the bracket, but that all depends on which team shows up?

Girls Hockey

D1: AC over Arlington - This match-up would be pretty cool. AC will be on a mission after being upset last year, and the ML is just so good when it comes to hockey so I like Arlington on that side of the bracket.

D2: Winchester over Burlington - Again two Middlesex League teams in the finals. Both are very stingy on defense which in the playoffs, is always the difference.

Ippolito Boys Basketball

Division 1 North: Cambridge over Everett. With an eye on the state title, Cambridge makes it two sectional crowns in a row.

Division 2 North: Danvers over New Mission. Until proven otherwise, I'm not picking against defending state champ Danvers. Tewksbury has the talent to make a run here, but late season struggles give them tough second round draw against a New Mission team that is well, on a mission.

Division 3 North: Weston over Lynnfield. Weston tops powerhouse North Reading on their path to the finals. It wouldn't surprise me to see Shawsheen win a game or two here.

Division 4 North: Pope John over St. Mary's. Pope John may have one of the most exciting players in the state in junior guard Travon Ford. They also simply have too much talent for anyone else in this field.

Girls Basketball

Division 1 North: Billerica over Lowell. Sectional finalists last season, Billerica takes the final step this time around.

Division 2 North: Watertown over Newburyport. Watertown is 38-4 over the past two years, including last year's sectional title. Tewksbury has a very tough second round matchup with Arlington Catholic, but don't count them out.

Division 3 North: North Reading over St. Mary's. Both teams roll to the finals before the Hornets finally prevail in a thriller.

Division 4 North: Fenway over Pope John. Fenway has won the sectional title three of the last four years and there is no reason to pick against them here. Tough break for Shawsheen, who will face them in the second round after a first round matchup with CAC foe Whittier.

Boys Hockey

Division 1A: BC High over Malden Catholic. To merely say that BC High is loaded would be vastly understating them. Super Eight is always so tough to call, but it sure is hard to pick against the Eagles.

Division 1 North: Reading over Arlington. The obvious choice, but the right choice. The two losers of the Super Eight play in games get over their misery by storming to the finals, where the Rockets will prevail. Luck of the bad draw for Wilmington gets them a matchup with an angry Arlington team in the quarterfinals.

Division 2 North: Marblehead over Tewksbury. The MVC champion Redmen play like they are capable of and make a run to the finals. But waiting there will be a Marblehead squad which has outscored their opponents 112-33 on the season on their way to a 21-0-1 record.

Division 3 North: Watertown over Lynn. Once again, defending state champion Watertown is a Division 1 team playing in the Division 3 tournament. Great job, MIAA! Shawsheen has a brutal draw with Watertown, Division 2 Swampscott and talented Division 3 foe Lowell Catholic all on their side of the bracket.

Girls Hockey

Division 1: Arlington Catholic over Austin Prep. Wilmington natives Tia Martignetti, Mickey McLaughlin and Erin Kelley help lead the Cougars to the title.

Division 2 - Wellesley over Tewksbury/Methuen. It's a wide open field and the Red Rangers could be the team to emerge.

Wilmington Youth Hockey teams remain busy on the ice

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Bantam 2 team returned to Valley League action with a pair of games at the Burlington Ice Palace over the final week-end of February.

First up on Saturday night was Natick. Max Churchill was in net, with a group of only three defensemen to rotate through the game. Shane Mercuri and Ryan Packer started on defense, backed up by Harry Serounian.

Up front, Max Shapiro centered Anthony Bowker and Evan Zonderman. Natick got the early lead a few minutes in, but after holding off the Wildcats for most of the period, Anthony Bowker scored the equalizer for Wilmington.

A late penalty carried through to the start of the second period, but the score remained 1-1 as the blue and white killed off the shorthanded situation.

With Natick assessed a major penalty for contact to the head, Bowker put Wilmington ahead with a power play goal in the middle of the period, assisted by Max Shapiro.

The Wildcats soon extended the lead with Shane Mercuri scoring from the back line as the power play continued. Natick struck back with a shorthanded goal before the penalty expired. Before the period ended, Bowker completed his hat trick with a third goal to put the lead at 4-2 heading the third.

Natick rebounded in the final frame, tallying two goals in the first six minutes to tie the game at four. The Wildcats responded on the next shift with Max Shapiro scoring.

In the closing minutes, Wilmington was whistled for a penalty and Natick capitalized on the power play to even the score at five. Playing aggressively for the win, Natick pulled their goalie in the final minute seeking a big come from behind win. The move almost backfired. Anthony Bowker, trying for a fourth goal in the game, hit the post with his shot for the empty net in the final seconds, and the game ended in a 5-5 tie.

On Sunday morning against Medfield, Liam Prigmore and Cameron Banks returned to the Wildcat lineup, evening out the forward lines and defense pairs. Colin Walsh moved to center, mostly with Joseph Hartzell on the left and Brendan Kelley to the right. Jake Fox centered Mark Miraglia and Evan Zonderman, while Banks took the left side opposite Anthony Bowker and center Max Shapiro. Medfield opened the scoring, but Wilmington struck back minutes later.

On a hard forecheck, Joseph Hartzell won the puck behind the Medfield net and sent a centering pass up the slot. Jake Fox corralled the puck and sent it through a screen of defenders and through the goalie's pads for the goal.

Before the period expired, Cameron Banks scored a goal on the tip-in of a rebound and earned the assist as Anthony Bowker continued his hot scoring streak to put the Wildcats up 3-1.

Medfield narrowed the lead to one in the second period, but the Wildcats responded with Bowker adding his second of the game to run the lead back to 4-2.

Medfield narrowed the gap late in the period, but with literally a second remaining on the clock, Banks scored from the left circle to give Wilmington a 5-3 lead heading to the final period.

Medfield responded with a goal in the opening seconds of the third, and added another in a few minutes to bring the score even at five.

With two minutes remaining, Medfield was assessed the only penalty called in the game, and the Cats hoped to ride the late power play opportunity to a win. However, Medfield's penalty killers were up to the task and the game ended in a second 5-5 tie for Wilmington in the span of about 12 hours.

MIDDLE SCHOOL BOYS

A busy and exciting week of hockey for the Wilmington 6th Grade Valley League Middle School team saw the underdog Wildcats exceed all expectations by earning a trip to the finals of the Valley Middle School Hockey League (VMSHL) playoffs before falling short in the championship game.

The No. 6 seed Wildcats pulled off a pair of thrilling overtime victories, shocking third seeded North Andover last Wednesday and then No. 2 seed Andover on Saturday by identical 4-3 scores, before finally falling in the finals to No. 1 seed Saugus on Sunday.

The Wildcats began their run last Wednesday night, taking on North Andover at the Lawrence Valley Forum. In a hard fought, back and forth battle, the Wildcats three times fought back from one goal deficits before coming away with the dramatic 4-3 overtime victory when Ryan Murray scored just 10 seconds into the extra session.

After playing to a scoreless first period, North Andover jumped on top early in the second, scoring just 25 seconds in, to take a brief 1-0 lead. It was a brief lead because just 30 seconds later, Wilmington's Joe Cornish redirected a Sean O'Donoghue shot from just inside the point, tying the game at 1-1 with 11:05 left in the period.

The score remained 1-1 at the end of two, setting up a dramatic third period and overtime. North Andover went on top early in the period, taking a 2-1 lead with 9:18 left in the game, but once again Wilmington responded quickly, with Cam Marzilli scoring a brilliant goal on an end to end rush, culminating with him beating the goalie top shelf to tie the game at 2-2 with 7:44 left.

North Andover took a 3-2 lead with 6:14 left, but Wilmington would respond one last time, with O'Donoghue scoring on a nice wrist shot from inside the point, with the assist going to Adam Ippolito, to tie the game at 3-3 with 2:39 left.

The teams headed to the five minute overtime, and with the Wildcats on the tail end of an expiring power play, they wasted little time in taking advantage of their opportunity, winning the opening faceoff and racing into the North Andover end where Joe Cornish set up Murray for the game winner just ten seconds in, setting off a wild celebration in the stands and on the Wildcats bench.

There was still work to be done, however, and in the semi-finals the Wildcats task got that much more difficult as they were facing an Andover team that had beaten them 5-2 earlier in the season. Things were different this time around, however, as Wilmington controlled play for much of the game, going out to a 3-1 third period lead before Andover fought back to force overtime.

Wilmington dominated much of the first period, keeping the majority of play in the Andover end. The forward line of Anthony Anguioni, Brady Robbins and Chris Patterson was especially effective early on, keeping sustained pressure on the Warriors on many of their shifts, particularly on the power play.

But it was Andover who would strike first, taking a 1-0 lead with 50 seconds left in the period and that was how the teams would go to intermission.

The Wildcats would tie it up with a shorthanded goal early in the second period, on another fantastic end to end rush by Marzilli, who deked the Andover defenseman and then finished his rush by beating the goalie with a nifty backhand for a 1-1 tie with 10:40 left in the frame.

Wilmington goalie Joey McLaren, who was outstanding all week, kept it a 1-1 tie late in the period, when he made a super glove save with the Wildcats shorthanded with 2:20 left. It turned out to be an even bigger save moments later when Patterson made a steal at center ice and raced into the Andover zone, beating the Warriors defenseman and then roofing a perfect shot past the goalie for a 2-1 lead with 1:37 left in the period.

With forwards Jordan Legere and Colby Medeiros, among others, applying pressure early in the third period, it looked like the Wildcats were going to extend their lead, but it was not until 8:40 remained that Marzilli stole the puck at the Andover blue line and then beat the Warriors goalie with a great wrist shot high stick side for a 3-1 lead.

Marzilli, a defenseman, was spectacular throughout the playoffs, and while his fellow defenseman did not provide his scoring punch, they were outstanding as well. Sean O'Donoghue, Aydan Churchill, Will Kenyon, Thomas Dalton and Shane Papineau all did an outstanding job of shutting down a pair of powerful offenses in North Andover and Andover.

A pair of late goals by Andover, including one with 1:34 left, sent the game into overtime, but once again the Wildcats prevailed in the extra session. This time it was Cornish doing the honors, putting a nice shot past the stunned Andover goalie, with the assist going to Will Alworth setting off the second wild celebration of the week.

The Wildcats would go on to lose in the VMSHL finals the next day to a powerful Saugus team, but it could not erase the memory of two tremendous upsets on their way to the championship game.

SQUIRT 1'S

After losing to The Greater Lowell Hawks 4-0 one month ago, the Wilmington Youth Hockey Squirt 1's got revenge with a 3-2 win this past Sunday morning.

The Wildcats battled back from a goal down to tie the Hawks in some first period action. Bobby Dodge would win a battle for the puck in the corner and feed a nice pass to Jake McLean out front. McLean made no mistake and beat the Hawks goaltender with a strong shot down low to make the score 1-1.

Just under four minutes into the second period, a great individual effort by Matthew DiZoglio gave the Wildcats their first lead of the game. DiZoglio would win the faceoff, make a couple dekes and walk in and score a nice goal, glove side, top corner.

On the following faceoff, DiZoglio would do it again, just eight seconds later. DiZoglio made the same nice moves to go along with the same great shot to give the Wildcats a 3-1 lead.

Charlie Chirichiello and Casey Robbins brought their "A" game offensively for the Wildcats and helped keep the play in the Hawks zone. However, the Hawks were able to close the Cats lead to one on a late goal with just over a minute to go in the second period, and Wilmington would take the 3-2 lead into the third.

Some lights out goaltending and a strong defense combined with a steady offensive attack enabled the Wildcats to hold on for the win. Some great back checking from Ryan Hayden, Jake Ciulla and Daniel Lagunilla were key factors in the Cats effort.

Griffin Carr played another outstanding game in net to go along with the solid defensive work of Bruce GreenAudette, Ella Cedrone, Jacob Smith, and Johnny Dalton.

Camp Kita event to be held at the Ristuccia Arena on March 19

Camp Kita (www.campkita.com) (https://www.facebook.com/CampKitaforKids) is a non-profit summer bereavement camp open to children ages 8-17 who are survivors of a loved one's suicide. It was established in 2013 by the Mosher siblings after losing their father to suicide. In the United States, suicide is the tenth leading cause of death, claiming an average of 102 lives each day. The Camp is free of charge for any child suffering the loss of a loved one through fundraising and generous, enthusiastic supporters, such as through fundraising events like this.

Camp Kita is inviting the public to its event which will be held on Saturday March 19th from 12:30 to 3 p.m. at Ristuccia Memorial Arena/Rink (190 Main St. Wilmington, MA) for a great family/friend event. Wildcats continue their winning ways over Redmen

TEWKSBURY - In the previous seven regular season meetings, Wilmington has held the advantage going 4-1-2. On Friday night, before another packed house at the Breakaway Ice Center, the Wildcats continued their hot streak over their neighbors from Tewksbury with a 2-0 victory as both boys hockey teams closed out their regular seasons before the state tournament begins this week.

The win propels Wilmington to an 12-8-1 overall record, extending the team's winning streak to three games. Tewksbury with the loss, falls to 13-5-2 overall and have struggled a bit down the stretch going 1-1-2 over their last four.

Tewksbury didn't struggle early on in this game, playing well in the first period and completely dominating the Wildcats. In fact, Tewksbury held an 11-1 advantage in shots after the first 15 minutes of play, with the lone opportunity for the 'Cats coming with 2:09 left on the clock.

Neither team scored that period, but in the second and third periods the fortunes reversed. Wilmington played much better, holding the shots of 12-11 and 9-8, and Tewksbury seemed to play very lackadaisical in the final two frames. The Wildcats scored single goals in the second and third, including the game winner coming with 0.4 seconds left in the second frame.

"The first period was terrible for us which is hard to explain since we have sat ten days (between games)," said Wildcat head coach Steve Scanlon. "I think that would have been an advantage to this game, us coming out (strong) but for the upteenth time of the year, we don't come ready to play (in the first period). We were thoroughly outplayed. We had one shot on net, we were tentative and we weren't skating."

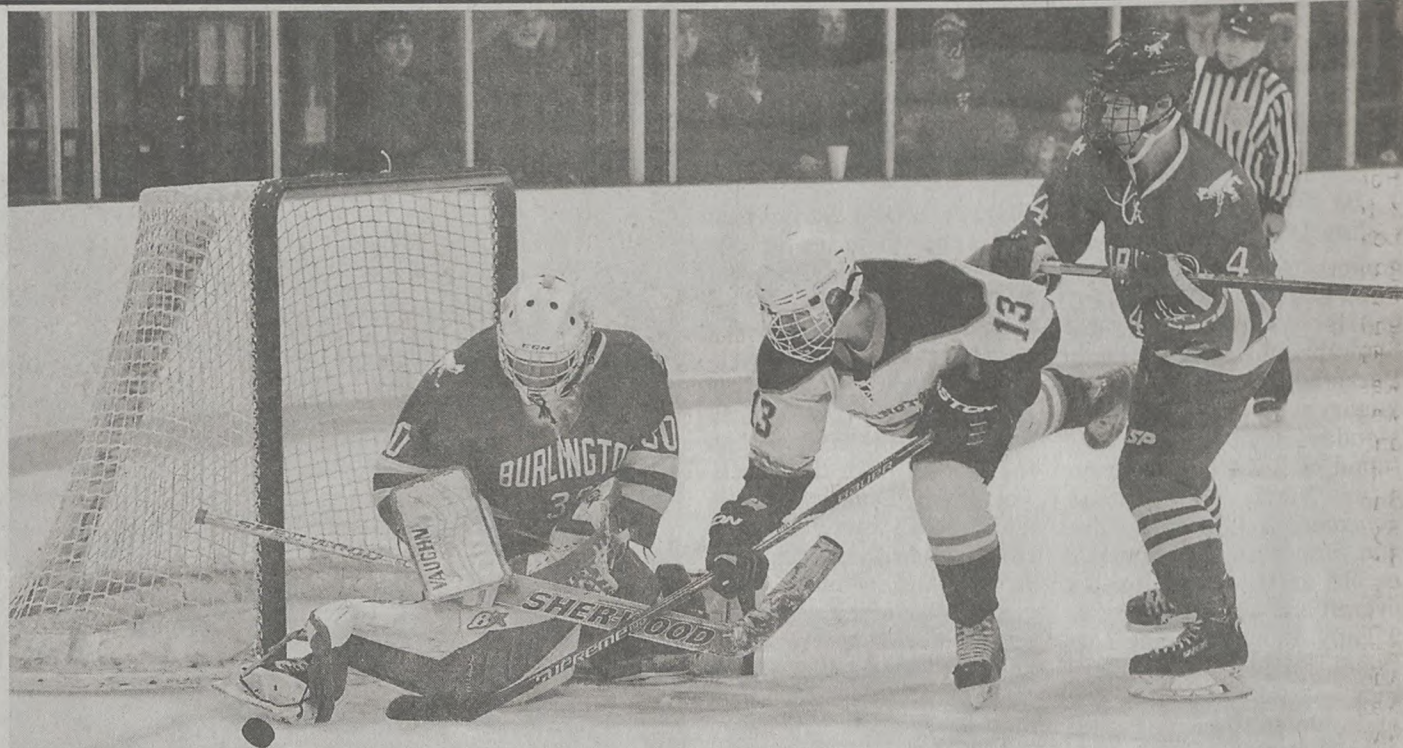

"Then we come out and play two good periods and we get the goals we need. Nick (Russo) was solid in the net and I thought we played well defensively."

Tewksbury Coach Derek Doherty said this was an obvious case of two different Redmen teams taking the ice over a 45-minute frame.

"The first period was a great period, but in the second and third period we were standing still," he said. "In the first period we controlled play. We outplayed them, we outskated them, outworked them, then we came in after the first period and I guess we thought we had control of the game, and we went out in the second and third period and we just waited for things to happen instead of making things happen."

Both teams squandered chances to score early in the second as Wilmington went on three power plays and Tewksbury had two. On the shorthanded situation coming with less than five minutes to go in the period, Tewksbury's Domenic Raneri picked off a pass in the 'Cats end and burst through center ice going in alone for a breakaway but Wilmington defenseman Tim Kippenberger broke up the play before Raneri could get a shot off.

With 3:35 left in the period, Wilmington again went on the power play and did a much better job moving the puck around including assistant captain Joe Kelley letting off two strong slap shots from the left point with both turned away by Tewksbury netminder Chris Raymond (20 saves).

With under a minute to go in the period, things started to pick up. Wilmington had a huge chance to score on a 3-on-1 break but Tewksbury's Sean Budryk dove to break up a pass. The puck then bounced into the corner before coming back to the left point where Kelley unleashed another bullet slap shot and freshman Danny Woods was in front of the net and tipped it to the top right hand corner for the game winning goal coming with 0.4 seconds left.

"It's huge," said Doherty of Wilmington getting on the board at that time. "It shouldn't have come to that, but obviously it's a huge difference. We had to kill a lot of penalties in the second period, so it became a game of special teams, which stinks, but you just have to skate hard for three periods and we did not do that tonight."

Nick Russo (30 saves) played very well in the net for Wilmington, especially in the third period making three saves on a Tewksbury power play keeping the score 1-0.

Right after that, Wilmington senior captain Brian Cavanaugh had the puck on the left hand boards just outside his own blue line. He sent a short pass ahead to Ryan Barrett, who picked up some speed through the neutral zone. As he entered the Redmen zone, he was on a 2-on-1, and at the last second, he sent a nice pass from his left to the right side where Josh Buske tapped it in for the much needed insurance goal.

"We got the goals we needed but I would have liked to have seen us be more efficient on the power play," said Scanlon. "You would like to go into the state tournament on a little bit of a role so that's three in a row for us, and we always have a good battle with (Tewksbury)."

Mike Ippolito contributed to this report.

Lady Rams score first round win over rivals

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
HAVERHILL - A huge third quarter surge led the Shawsheen Tech Girls Basketball team to a 61-47 victory over Whittier Monday night in the first round of the MIAA Division 4 North Sectional Tournament at Whittier. The win improved Shawsheen's record on the season to 13-8 overall and propelled the No. 9 Lady Rams into the sectional quarterfinals where they will take on No. 1 seed and defending sectional champ Fenway on Friday night at 6 p.m. at the Shelburne Center (2730 Washington Street) in Roxbury.

It was the third meeting of the season between the two CAC foes, and the previous two had been nail biters, with Whittier taking a 42-41 decision back in January and Shawsheen earning an 84-82 double overtime triumph on February 18. Throughout the first half, it looked like the third meeting would once again be a thriller, with Shawsheen holding just a slim 26-24 half-time lead, but the Lady Rams outscored Whittier by 24-6 margin in the third quarter, turning that slim lead into a 50-30 advantage heading into the fourth quarter.

Shawsheen coach Aimee Sueltenfuss was ready for another fantastic finish this time around as well, but she will gladly prefer the path provided by her team with their dominant third quarter, starting with a 16-1 run to open the second half.

"By far that was the best quarter that my team played (all season)," Sueltenfuss said. "I told them at half-time that we set goals for ourselves all year and we cannot just lay down and give them away when it gets tough. We had led the whole game and I didn't want to see them give up on that so we came out playing fast and putting the ball in the hoop. That run I think made them realize we could win that game and we did not need to make it harder for ourselves."

Senior Katie Dunlevy of Tewksbury got things started for the Lady Rams, putting back an offensive rebound to start the run, senior Holly DeCoursey added a foul shot after another rebound and Dunlevy finished a nice pass from freshman point guard Samantha Moriconi to make it 31-24.

Back-to-back driving layups by DeCoursey were followed by a three pointer from junior Danielle Papa.

Another rebound and put-back by Dunlevy (11 rebounds) and a coast-to-coast layup by DeCoursey in transition pushed the Shawsheen lead to 42-25.

The Rams finished the quarter with three pointers from sophomore Ashlyn Troisi and junior Elizabeth Freitas of Wilmington, while Tara Mickle was outstanding throughout the quarter and throughout the game, with an amazing 18 rebounds.

Team leaders like DeCoursey, Dunlevy and Mickle stepped up when it mattered most for the Lady Rams, as Sueltenfuss expected they would, but in reality she was proud of the efforts of her entire roster in this win.

"With DeCoursey sick and the loss of freshman

Shannon Fitzgerald to being sick I told them on the bus that today would be what fairy tales were made of, because someone had to step up and take some minutes in a big game," Sueltenfuss said. "I am so pleased with the play of my starters and the players from the bench. DeCoursey, Dunlevy, Mickle and Papa all were in the double digits with scoring and Mickle and Dunlevy were great rebounding. We got out rebounded by (Whittier) big time two weeks ago and this was something we said had to change. Moriconi only had five points but she played almost the entire game and had nine assists and cut her turnovers way down this game which she has struggled with all season long.

"I put Ashlyn Troisi in, who usually struggles with her confidence but I needed breaks for DeCoursey and Troisi controlled the ball and also had five huge points including a wide open three. Liz Freitas was pulled up last week with the idea that she was a junior but probably would not play and lo and behold I asked her to go in and the crowd went crazy when she drained a 3. It was a great win! I cannot describe the pride I have for these girls and the team."

Whittier's full-court press caused some problems for Shawsheen to start the fourth quarter and Whittier actually closed to within ten points at 52-42 with 3:30 left, but senior Katie McLaren of Wilmington stopped the Whittier rally hitting a pair of free throws to stem the tide.

"In the fourth we were tired and we struggled with the press a bit but it was more about hanging on, which we did," Sueltenfuss said. "DeCoursey plays a very fast paced game and that is when she is at her best so when we have a big lead and need to slow it down, unfortunately mistakes come with that. Holly had been sick for five days leading up to this game and had not practiced so keeping her in the game was a big focus and I was able to make small substitutions for her along the way, but in the fourth she had to stick it out and she showed how important she is to the team."

Shawsheen had four players score in double figures. DeCoursey led the way with 14 points, Papa added 12, Mickle scored 11 and Dunlevy finished with 10.

Shawsheen led 8-1 in the opening moments and 15-9 at the end of the first quarter.

Now, of course the Lady Rams must prepare for a Fenway team that won the sectional title last season before making all the way to the Division 4 state finals where they lost to Millis. This year they bring a 17-3 record into Friday night's contest on their home floor as they look to make another championship run. The Lady Rams will be trying to prevent that, but Sueltenfuss knows it will take their best game of the season to do it.

"We do not see teams that play like Fenway and it is going to be a challenge," Sueltenfuss said. "I think that the key for our team is to work on what we do well and focus on us. When we try to focus on the other team we lose what we need to do. We are going to go over some of their style and hopefully we can make things happen in our favor."

Shawsheen Tech wrestler Joe Fusco celebrates, along with head coach Mark Donovan and others, after his dramatic pin late in the third period over Tewksbury's Broc Dokos during Saturday's All-State Wrestling 220-pound championship match held at Reading High School.

Rams crown two All-State Wrestling Champs

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
READING -- Even before this weekend's All-State Meet at Reading High School, there had already been many great honors for the Shawsheen Tech Wrestling team this season, with them winning their eighth consecutive CAC and Mass. Vocational titles, finishing fifth in the Division 1 North Sectional Tournament and having a pair of Division 1 state champions advance to the All-State Meet.

Their performance at the All-State Meet can certainly be added to their great season. The Rams finished fifth in a field of 98 teams at the tournament, including having two champions, with junior Jake Ferri winning the title at 106 pounds and senior Joe Fusco capturing the 220 pounds title, as both wrestlers continued their undefeated seasons.

Senior Billy Tamboli of Tewksbury also had an outstanding tournament, advancing to the second day of the meet.

Ferri dominated on his way to the title at 106 pounds, just as he has throughout the season, including in the semi-finals where he beat Michael Hernandez of Lawrence by a score of 9-2, before pinning Andy Richard of Lincoln-Sudbury in just 1:57.

The mere fact that Ferri was wrestling was an impressive feat, as he had been unable to practice until Thursday due to illness. It was the second week in a row he had overcome an illness, as he was also sick prior to winning the championship at the Division 1 Meet.

"Last week he had a 103 degree temperature and a double ear infection and he came back to win Division 1," Shawsheen coach Mark Donovan said. "And then, on Sunday he was sick again, so he had to go on a higher antibiotic and could barely practice. Then he goes out and wins All-States. That is all because the kind of person he is. He is the kind of person who works hard when nobody else is watching. He is a level above other kids and it is because of the work he puts in during the summer and in the room during the season."

Fusco has been much of the same type of wrestler all season for Donovan, improving to 47-0 on the season with the championship at 220 pounds. Like Ferri, he also dominated on his way to the title winning his first couple of matches easily before advancing to the semi-finals where he beat Dan Gioioso of Xaverian by pin in a time of 5:06.

Moving on to the finals, Fusco met up with Tewksbury's Broc Dokos for the second time this season. Dokos, who was coming off championships in the Division 2 Sectional Tournament as well as the Division 2 State Meet, brought a 43-3 record into the All-States, with one of the losses coming to Fusco in the Lowell Holiday Tournament.

Fusco made it 2-for-2 against the talented Dokos, pinning him at the 5:43 mark, with just 17 seconds left in the match.

"Dokos is a very good athlete and a very good wrestler, and we knew he had studied us and would be ready," Donovan said. "But Fusco was focused. He doesn't worry about what the other guy is doing, he just focuses on what he wants to do and that's why he is successful."

With the match tied 3-3 in the third period, Dokos made an aggressive move to go for the win, but the alert Fusco was ready and was able to catch Dokos and win by pin.

"It was a very exciting match," Donovan said. "Dokos went for it, but Joe was able to get the pin. It really could have gone either way, and that is what you want when you have two of the best wrestlers in Massachusetts going against each other."

Ferri and Fusco both advanced to this weekend's All New England Meet in Providence, Rhode Island, which gets underway Friday afternoon.

"I think they can both do well there," Donovan said. "Anything can happen, but we are going in very confident in both of them. They are totally different than each other in their size and their technique, but they get the same result."

Tamboli was very impressive in the meet as well, with the highlight coming with a pin over Daniel Gregorio of Masconomet in 5:09 before being eliminated by eventual finalist Austin Cooley of Somerset in the quarterfinals.

Tamboli had been a backup for the Rams for much of last season as a junior, but as a senior this season, he has been one of the team's top wrestlers, finishing in fourth place at the Division 1 Meet after a very good regular season.

"I am very happy for Billy," Donovan said. "He wrestled in ten or eleven matches last season, but he was mostly a backup. He put in his work over the summer and he came back strong. His emotion is great and he is good on his feet and has a headlock in his back pocket if he needs it."

"We did not expect this from Billy this season, but we are very happy for him. He worked to get the most out of his abilities and as a coach you can't ask for any more than that. He is definitely the type of kid you want on your team."

Will face Stoneham in Division 3 North Opener

Rams Hoop team hoping to extend streak

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
The Shawsheen Tech Boys Basketball team enters the Division 3 North Sectional Tournament as the No. 3 seed after an outstanding regular season that saw the Rams go 12-6, including a four-game winning streak to end the season.

As a result of their excellent season the Rams were set to host a first round tournament game on Wednesday night in Billerica against No. 14 Stoneham, who finished 7-13 on the season. Stoneham, however is not your typical 7-13 team. The Spartans, of the Middlesex League, played the bulk of their games against Division 2 opponents, qualifying for the Division 3 tournament under the Sullivan Rule, which saw them post a winning record against Division 3 opponents.

"They will be a very tough test for us," Shawsheen coach Greg Bendel said.

"They play in a very tough league. They don't get any days off in their league, so despite their record they are a very good team, and they have some very good wins on the season. They have beaten teams like Watertown, Reading and South Boston, so they have shown they can beat quality teams."

Stoneham has shown their ability to rise up in the post season before. Two years ago they entered the tournament with just a 10-10 record before going on a great run all the way to the finals before losing to Watertown.

A big reason for the Spartans success that season, as well as this season is Middlesex League All-Star Devon Chase, just a freshman in their great run two years ago, and a junior this season. Bendel knows he is a player the Rams will have to focus on.

"He is probably one of the better players in the area," Bendel said. "He is averaging about 24 or 25 points per game. He is a very good player, a very skilled player, and he will be a difficult challenge for us. Their whole team will be a big challenge for us, but it is something we are looking forward to."

The Rams enter the tournament with some valuable post season experience of their own, having qualified for the second year in a row. Last season, the Rams defeated South Boston in the first round of the Division 3 North Tournament before falling to Minuteman in the quarterfinals.

With players like seniors Jared Roane (Tewksbury) and Nick Gott, along with junior Sean Hines, among others having experienced the pressure of post season play last season, Bendel is confident that his team will respond well on Wednesday night.

"I think having that experience from last season definitely helps," Bendel said. "Hopefully it helped to get any jitters out and they will not be nervous. I think they are more excited than nervous, so I think they will respond well."

Bendel was also hoping the Rams would take full advantage of playing on their home court.

"We have had a great following all year long and we are very grateful for that," Bendel said. "We are looking forward to it. We have been very fortunate with all of the support we have gotten this season, so hopefully that continues."
